PREPOSITIONS

Words of time, location, position, relation

I need to go with John

I need to go close to the house

I need to eat after the game

I need to cook for my friend

Necesito ir con John

Necesito ir cerca de la casa

Yo necesito comer después del partido

Yo necesito cocinar para mi amigo.

Why Are Spanish Prepositions So Difficult?

You'll see the answer below:

I drive in the street
I walk in the street
I go in the street

Conduzco en la calle
Camino por la calle
Voy a la calle

Spanish prepositions don't always match English ones.

80% of the time, they do. 20% they don't.

"En" means "In" 80% of the time. But it can mean "on" "at" etc depending on the situation, the other 20%. So when we learn prepositions, just know that you first need to learn the 80% definition, and over time & especially reading & listening more to how native speakers use prepositions, you will learn the exceptions for each situation.

Don't worry, the 80% standard definition will be more than sufficient for conversational ability.
